

MME 302: Basic Chemical Engineering

An introduction to the fundamental methods of formulation and solution of Chemical Engineering problems involving physical and chemical changes of materials and accompanying heat effects. Topics include: stoichiometric and compositional relationships, state relations for real gases, materials and energy balances.