

MME401: Heat Treatment

Nucleation and growth processes in metals with particular reference to austenite formation and decomposition, discontinuous precipitation, particle coarsening, martensitic transformation. Detailed heat treatment of special important commercial materials especially bearing steels, aluminium alloys, titanium alloys, nickel based alloys, high strength low alloy steel and stainless steels.